

WHAT IS NETIQUETTE?

Netiquette is very similar to regular etiquette, but applied to work with the internet.

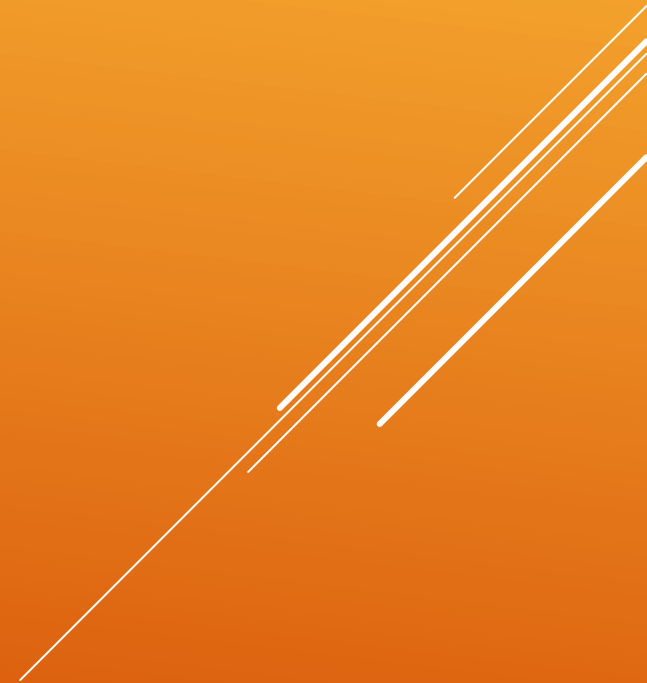

FOLLOW THE SAME STANDARDS AS YOU DO IN PERSON

You should follow the same rules as you do in person when speaking online, as it's very much similar.

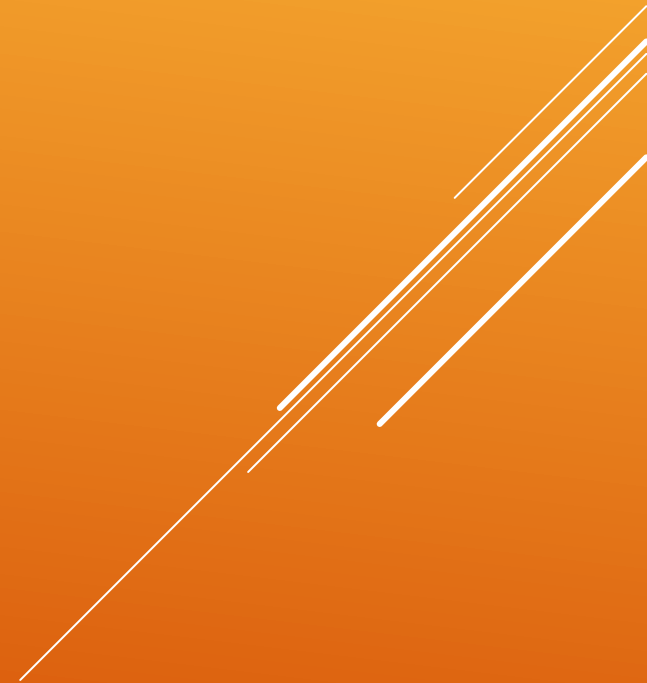

SHOW YOUR BEST SIDE

It is best practice to maintain politeness, respect and professionalism, even if the recipient isn't giving it back. You should also not use full capital letters within your messages as it comes across as shouting.

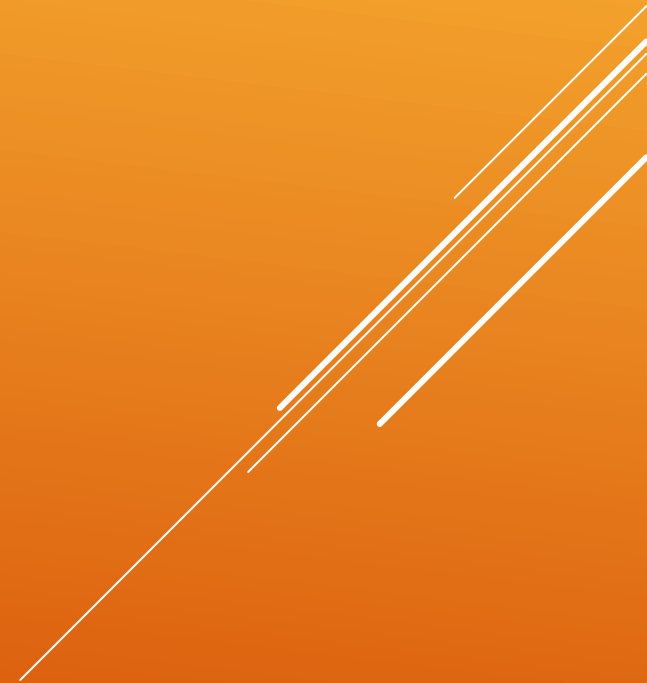

USE CORRECT GRAMMAR AND PUNCTUATION

In a professional setting you should use correct grammar, punctuation, and if possible, spelling. Having these being incorrect or poorly done, could make it difficult for the recipient to read or make them not read it at all.

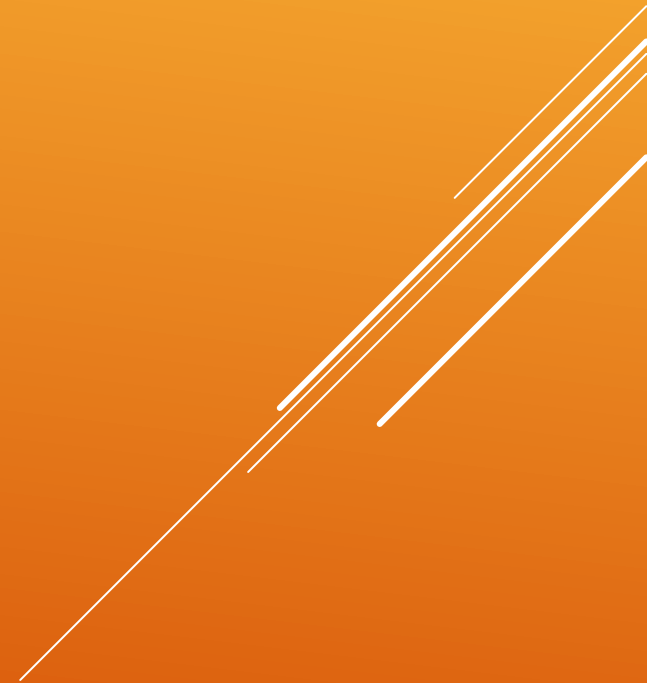

DON'T ABUSE YOUR POSITION OF POWER

Even though you have the ability to moderate people or watch over them, you shouldn't do it without valid reason. You should never look at peoples private data without valid reason, or in some cases at all.

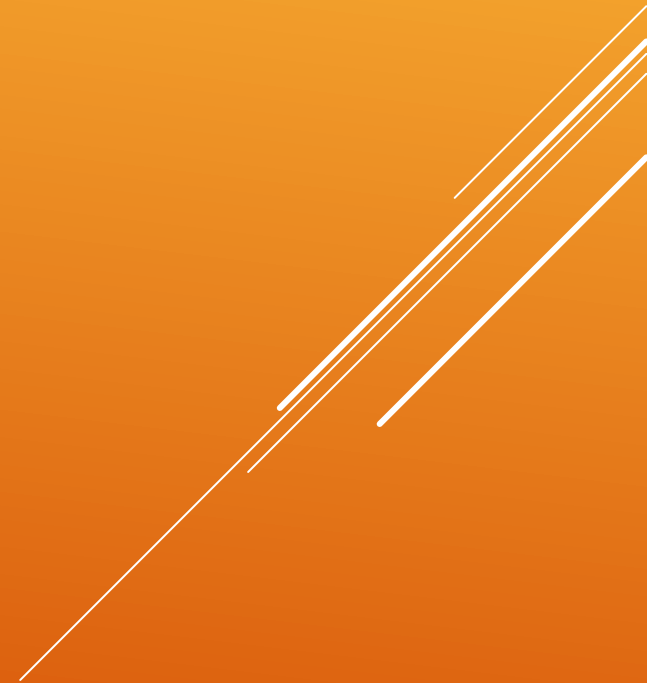

VIDEO MEETINGS

You should make sure before joining the meeting that everything is working correctly, and that the background isn't distracting. Also whenever possible you should join on time and not talk over people.

MAKE SURE INFORMATION IS FACTUAL

You should always check your information is true before sending it, as it's wasting peoples time and can cause problems in certain communities.

DON'T SPAM

You should not send people unwanted messages, emails, or calls. It will just clutter the recipients inboxes distracting them from what they need to see.
